Editor's Note

The glorious month of Ramzan has ended with all of us celebrating Eid with great zeal and joy.

However, our blessings have more bounties in store for us: August brings one more festive event that is commemorated by our nation. Independence Day teaches us to be patient, united and share our love and happiness with our fellow Pakistanis. In the present times of trouble and despair, a few kind words are enough to make one's day.

The students of Bahria exemplify varied instances of kindness throughout the year in the community service. In this issue, it is delightful to see students putting forward their best efforts for people who are in need. The service to humanity is indeed special and spiritually rewarding.

Other limelight events of this issue include the Educational Expo, Rector's interview and celebration of the World Oceans Day. Furthermore, it is an honour for us to announce the opening of Lahore Campus. I welcome the Fall 2013 batch and wish them luck with their studies and future endeavours.

For suggestions and feedback, feel free to email on gullain@bimcs.edu.pk.

Happy reading!

Research is Important Facet of Higher Education: Bahria University Rector

By Afshan S. Khan

Bahria University (Islamabad) Rector Vice Admiral (Retd) Shahid Iqbal has said that research is very important facet of higher education. In order to promote knowledge creation through research at the Bahria University, the Office of Research and Development was established in February 2010.

Talking to 'The News,' he said that the Office of Research and Development was later notified by the Higher Education Commission (HEC) as Office of Research Innovation and Commercialisation (ORIC) in October 2011.

"Research and university are synonymous and every university should have strong research and we are trying to focus on research and development. Since we are only 12 years old which is not a long time for a university, but we are focused and there is vast improvement in our faculties especially in postgraduate and PhD levels," he stated this in an interview with 'The News'.

While talking about the research activities of Bahria University he said that in order to promote knowledge creation through research at Bahria University, Office of Research and Development was established in February, 2010 which was later notified by HEC as Office of Research Innovation and Commercialization (ORIC) in October, 2011.

Shahid Iqbal said that the benefits, which can be attained by the industry from the research endeavours of academia, are far beyond imagination. In the entire developed world, he said the academia is responsible for the development, transfer, diffusion and application of new knowledge and technology in the industry. For such reasons, a holistic interaction pattern is required between the academia and industry for the development of any nation's innovative system through the exchange of knowledge and technology. "The interaction between academia and industry is of vital importance not merely because of the reason that industry can finance the research projects of the academia, but for the purpose of questions posed by the industry, which often reveals gaps in knowledge that can only be addressed by long term research by the academia," he added.

On inquiring, as to what are the guiding principles of Bahria University, the BU rector said that is a progressive centre of education, where the guiding principles are quality and innovation. "It is encompassing all facets of quality education supported by most modern educational aids, highly qualified and experienced teaching faculty offering education in market place academic disciplines," he added. Bahria makes its student proud of it because it has the attributes like Quality Assurance Directorate, International Linkages, on campus counselling and academic advisory, Faculty Development Programme, scholarships at Bahria University, Public Relations Department, Bahria University Alumni Association, Student Resource Centre (SRC), Bahria University Sports and Gymnasium.

When asked about the job security of the students, he said that we have well-established career services office in both campuses at Karachi and Islamabad with designated staff. He said that they have maintained liaison with more than 200 organisations for placements of our graduates in terms of jobs and internships. "We also provide workshops to our students on career development, personal and professional grooming e.g. Career counselling sessions, Mock interviews in addition to review their resumes, Job fairs and Career Expo's etc.," he added.

The rector said that this year more than 50 companies participated in their job fair and each year the companies' participation is increasing.

While talking about The News Education Expo, the rector said that Bahria University is determined to ensure quality higher education to society at large so it needs to promote the idea across to the country. "In our perception, the education expo planned by The News is the right forum to project Bahria and its educational activities," he said.

About the international linkages, the rector informed that the Bahria University has academic linkages with 22 international universities, that includes Al-Khawarizimi International College, UAE (Undergraduate programmes only), Chahbahar Maritime University, Iran (Maritime studies only), Dalhousie University, Canada (Maritime studies only), Damghan University, Iran, Dogus University, Turkey, Edith Cowan University, Australia (Articulation agreement for BBA), International College Beijing, China (Management Sciences only), Institute of Oriental Studies, Azerbaijan (Maritime studies only), International University of Business, Agriculture & Technology, Bangladesh, King's College -Corbett Centre, UK (Maritime studies only), MIT, USA (Agreement for Open resource sharing), Tongji University, China (School of Political Sciences & IR), Trieste University, Italy (Research project on Environmental Sciences), University of Bedfordshire, UK, University of Greenwich, UK, University of Idaho, USA (Maritime studies only), University of Leicester, UK, University of Nottingham, UK, University of Wollongong, Australia, Xuzhou Normal University, China, York St. John University, UK, Yasar University, Turkey.

Bahria University Islamabad Rector Vice Admiral (r) Shahid Iqbal took the charge of Bahria University, Islamabad, as rector since 8th February, 2012. He is the recipient of National award of Hilal-e-Imtiaz (Military. He holds a Master's degree in Defence and Strategic studies from the National Defence University, Islamabad.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT PROGRAM BAHRIA UNIVERSITY

Community Service/civic engagement program is an essential degree completion requirement for undergraduates at Bahria University campuses. Under this program, Bahria University students devote 40 hours during their university tenure towards Community Support Programs. In doing so, the students of BU have assisted reputable organizations in society through diverse activities for social causes.

Community Development Council

Under community support program, a group of students from Bahria University Islamabad Campus visited different orphanages on various occasions to pursue the aspirations and objectives of the Community Development Council (CDC). The students' collective achievements with the NGO were highlighted in a ceremony on 23rd of May 2013. In recognition of their efforts and support Mr Meer'n Raja the president of CDC awarded certificates and souvenirs to Project Officer Ms Kholah Dar and participating students.

To undertake community support programmes and engage students of Bahria University in most meaningful and befitting manners in civic activities Director Bahria University Karachi Captain Mohsin Hayat Malik (TI) campus signed a number of MoUs with
