ABSTRACT

Purpose: This study attempts to examine the relationship between the stock prices and macroeconomic variables that are the inflation rate, interest rate, exchange rate and gross domestic product in Pakistan. The four industries on which the analysis has been done are the oil and gas industry of Pakistan, Chemical industry of Pakistan, Cement industry of Pakistan and the Insurance industry of Pakistan on the basis of the data available.

Design/Methodology/Approach: The research is done from year 2010 to 2017 on the basis of the monthly data. Stock price is taken as the dependent variable and the macroeconomic variables as independent variables. Regression analysis has been used to determine the relation between the dependent and the independent variables.

Findings: The results of the study demonstrated that the impact of some macroeconomic variables differs between industry sectors, three variables have a homogenous impact in all the industries whereas the one variable has both significant and insignificant results in all of the industries.

Limitations: The study has been done on the time span of 07 years, the researchers can increase the time span, and furthermore the macroeconomic variables used are four in number that can also be increased from four to a lot more.

Recommendations: The macroeconomic variables impact differs from industry to industry, if one variable has a significant effect on the stock price of the specific industry the other might not have that effect.

Keywords: Inflation rate, Interest rate, Gross domestic product, Exchange rate, Stock price, Stock market.

Acknowledgement

All affection, admirations and thanks to Allah Almighty, The most Gracious, Who amicably blessed me with self-confidence and granted me courage, opportunities, facilities, family and friends to complete my first ever life's achievement. I offer my deep homage to Holy Prophet Muhammad (S.A.W.W.) whose belief and indulgent sayings make me able to think the depth of life's ideas

First of all I want to express a very grateful thanks to my beloved Mother, Brother and Sister who helped, prayed and supported me. Completion of this work would not have been possible without participation and assistance of so many people. Their contributions are sincerely appreciated and gratefully acknowledged. I would like to express the deep appreciation to my mother Naveed-un-Nisa, brother, sister and friends and others who in one way or another shared their support. I would also like to thank my Supervisor who helped a lot in writing this thesis, without whom I may not be able to complete this thesis

May Allah Almighty infuse with the energy to fulfil their inspirations and expectations and further modify my competence May Allah bless them with long happy and peaceful lives (Ameen).
